

New Drums for Sale

Raks Festival Workshop March 27th

Hi,

Just letting you know that I will have some new (different) djembe drums for sale, as well as the usual Egyptian Tabla drums in various colours ($175), at the upcoming Raks Festival drumming workshop with Malfouf on March 27th.

These new djembes are very different to traditional timber body and goat skin djembes, as these have a fibreglass body, and a mylar skin, which creates some advantages such as -

- * Only 1/3 the weight of a timber djembe, much lighter to carry, great for traveling or carrying around music festivals etc.

- * The sound quality is exceptional and the best I've heard from a non timber and goat skin drum, and the mylar skin looks similar to a genuine goat skin.

- * The sound is unaffected by humid / wet weather, can even play it in the rain!!!!

- * Pretty much no work to keep them tuned, just like the Egyptian Tablas.

- * Hand picked quality, and really well made, I expect the skin to last much longer than a traditional goat skin.

- * They come in blue or yellow. See photos

- * Can be played upright same as a normal African djembe, but also very easy to play across your lap same as tabla drums.

- * Full size height at 2' (ie 60cm) high, just right for seated playing.

- * Easy to strap & play while walking.

- * Perfect for beginners or some one wanting to add more bass to their drum collection.

- * Local construction and 3 month guarantee. Price, only $220! Timber and goat skin djembes cost approx $300 + , and need a new goat skin every 3 or 4 years at a cost of $80 approx.

If you are interested, please let me know asap, so I can bring extras on the day, however I will have 1 blue and 1 yellow with me on the day for sale and try, and I will have various colours in the Egyptian Tabla range for $175 each. Much cheaper to buy straight from me than pay shipping costs later!

Hope to see you on the 27th,

Malfouf
